

11th International Audiovisual Competition "Città di Garda"

Patronage FIAF 23AVF3 – FIAP 2023/285

Regulation

1. Preamble

The competition aims to promote and reward the culture of quality International Audiovisual, a particularly creative and complete photographic discipline.

The competition is open to authors from around the world whether they belong to a club or Federation or not. The term "author" means the person (or group) that produced audiovisual or personally oversaw the production using the contribution of others and which takes care to present it to the competition. All sequences submitted will be seen by the official jury. The official jury will determine acceptances, the three main prizes and any references or special prizes at its discretion. The jury judges the sequence and not the author.

2. Sequences to be considered

An audiovisual is a presentation that combines photographic images, sound and sometimes a text: the photographic image is its key feature. Screen video inserts (partial or whole screen) are allowed if strictly functional to the story and are not more prevalent than single photographic images during the sequence.

The synergy between images and soundtrack is left to the author's creativity but the sequence must be harmoniously integrated with its own script and dynamic communication.

The subject is free and all audiovisuals will be evaluated by the jury regardless of categories.

3. Characteristics of the sequences

Each author may submit up to three sequences with subject completely free, each one lasting no more than 12 minutes. The sequences must have been produced in the last three years (from 2020 included) and have not already been presented in previous editions of the Garda Festival. Modern digital reconstructions of older works are not allowed. Audiovisuals with spoken text must be accompanied by the author's summary in English, or French or Italian to facilitate the understanding of the public and the jury.
